For Immediate Release, May 14, 2015

Chamber Music Amici will perform its final concert of the 2014-15 season at 7:30 pm, Monday, June 1, 2015, at the Wildish Community Theater in Springfield. This concert features music by Prokofiev and Dvořák. Outgoing Artistic Director, violinist Sharon Schuman, will join incoming Artistic Director, violinist Jessica Lambert, for Prokofiev's stunning sonata for two violins; Amici pianist Victor Steinhardt will join Lambert, Schuman, guest violist Leslie Straka and Amici cellist Steven Pologe for Dvořák's dramatic piano quintet in A major. The week's activities include a free, open dress rehearsal at 7:30 pm Sunday, May 31, at the Wildish Theater, and free education and community outreach at the BEST program of the Eugene Public Schools, Ophelia's Place, and Cascade Manor retirement community. At the June 1 concert, the 2015-16 Amici season will be announced, featuring the return of Canadian trumpet sensation Guy Few, as well as Amici's first opportunity to perform with Swedish Klezmer violinist, Semmy Stahlhammer.

All Amici concerts are short, intermission-free, and kid-friendly, with a party afterwards on stage. For information and tickets, call 541-953-9204.
