Chamber Music Amici

Community support and patronage has long played a role in the lives of composers. In this evening's program we present three commissioned works. Beethoven wrote his Op. 18 quartets on a commission from Prince Lobkowitz, of whom was said, "this Prince was as kindhearted as a child and the most foolish music enthusiast." His Palais Lobkowitz was filled with musicians from dawn to dusk. Also on the program is the Kegelstatt Trio by Mozart, a piece written for the Jacquin family who were private patrons and good friends of Mozart with whom he spent weekly evenings in "discussions, games, and music-making." And so, in a long tradition, Chamber Music Amici enjoys playing our small part in assisting young composers and bringing their works to our Palais Wildish with an Amici commissioned piano quintet by Zach Gulaboff Davis.

Please join us for pre-concert conversation with composer Zach Gulaboff Davis at 6:45 in the theater.
